Propane gas burns

A leaking Pyrofax Gas tanker, transporting 30,000 pounds of propane gas, burst into a white-hot fireball which burned out of control for over three hours at Grand Rapids, Mich. An estimated 50 firemen were used to contain the blaze and bring it under control. (AP Wirephoto)

Burke trial underway

City Clerk Mary Cook is first witness

By LENNY INGRASSIA

Lawyers began unraveling the state's case against Jim G. Burke, 37, this morning as City Clerk Mary Cook was called to the witness stand to explain absentee ballot forms used in the April 15 Dixon city election. She was the first witness called to testify in the courtroom of Jo Daviess County Circuit Judge James Vincent following jury selection which ended late Thursday.

A juror, Joseph Butterfield, was replaced after he telephoned in sick this morning. Irvin Tittsworth, Dixon, chosen as an alternate, was seated in his place.

Burke was indicted by a Lee County grand jury in September on charges of solicitation of absentee ballots and perjury in connection with the April election. The perjury charge was dismissed during pre-trial hearings.

In opening arguments, Atty-General lawyer Brian David said the state's case is like a jigsaw puzzle—“certain testimony may not make sense by itself—until it is put together with all the other evidence.”

David claimed the evidence will show “the defendant had the intent to perjure himself and attempted to make another make a false statement” in signing the absentee ballot application. “He requested and encouraged this with full knowledge that the ballot would be improper—none of these people expected to be out of town.”

David was accompanied in court by Charles Levad, another state lawyer, both appointed special assistant state's attorneys in Lee County. Assistance from the Attorney General's office was sought by State's Atty. Patrick E. Ward, a Republican, at the outset of the investigation in early April. Burke is chairman of the Democratic Central Committee.

At that time Ward said he bowed out of the case to keep “local politics out of the picture.”

Defense Atty. Henry Dixon claimed in his opening statement “Certain political overtones existed prior to the election with a statement from Ward that his first priority was to get Burke.” The statement was said to have been made during a Republican precinct committee meeting.

“There was nothing illegal—no crime was committed and there was no intention by James Burke,” Dixon reasoned. He continued “There were some mistakes made in this election—by those running—by those involved and by those voting, but there was no intention to commit a crime.”

Dixon said the prosecutors will show through evidence that six persons named in the indictment who voted absentee were not registered voters—“they were instructed by the clerk they didn't have to register to vote in this election,” he maintained.

Under questioning from Levad, the city clerk explained procedures used in her office in the handling of absentee ballot forms.

Cook explained to the court the coding technique used to identify which candidate took the absentee ballot applications from her office.

Seven defense objections were made to testimony from Cook.

If convicted, Burke faces a one to three-year prison term and fine up to $10,000.

It took 7½ hours to select 12 jurors and two alternates Thursday. Of the 52-member panel, 36 jurors were excused after questioning. Only two remained at the end of selection at 6:15 p.m.

Seated on the jury are Forrest Warner, Jerry L. Broers, Phyllis Schulte, Harry Smith, Janet Helt, Savilla Palmer, Bernine Winebrenner and Tittsworth, all of Dixon; Betty Worth, Ashton; Jesse Carry and Stella Young, both of Franklin Grove, and Elwood Bower, Compton. One alternate remains. She is Pauline Hermes, Dixon.

Dixonite arrested in stolen car probe

By BILL SHAW

The recovery of three stolen Lincoln Continentals in the Dixon area by Lee County Sheriff's deputies has led to the arrest of a Dixon man in connection with a car-theft ring in Chicago.

At noon today Gary Stevens, 2304 W. First St., was placed under arrest on charges of possession of stolen property. Deputies accused Stevens of being involved in a scheme to transport stolen cars out of Chicago and resell them.

The first break in the stolen-car ring came early Wednesday morning when a patrolling Lee County deputy spotted a 1972 Lincoln Continental near Amboy with no license plates.

The car, driven by David White, rural Dixon, was stopped and a computer check revealed that it had been stolen from a parking lot at Lance Litho Printing in Chicago.

White reportedly told authorities that he had bought the car from Stevens on Jan. 11, paying $2,000 for it. The car is valued at $8,000.

White was originally charged with possession of stolen property, but the charges were dropped when deputies learned that he had no apparent knowledge that the vehicle was stolen.

Following the recovery of that car, an intensive investigation was launched by the sheriff's department. Thursday night another 1972 Mark IV was recovered from Kellen Motor Sales lot at 419 E. 8th St.

Cecil Kellen, owner of the lot, said that he had bought the Continental within the month from George Maves Sr., 210 Hubbell Drive, for $3,300. Upon questioning, Maves reported to deputies that he had bought the car from Stevens. The car's serial number was traced to a Lincoln-Mercury dealer in Chicago, where a man had left it for repairs.

A third Continental has also been recovered. Deputies said it was in the possession of Stevens. That car is a 1976 model valued at $15,000. The nearly new car had been reported stolen from a Chicago doctor, as it was parked outside his medical office.

Unofficial reports from the Chicago Police Department estimate that 25 Lincoln Continentals have been stolen each day from various locations around the Chicago area. The outbreak of car thefts reportedly began in mid-December.

Secretary of State investigators and FBI agents have arrived in Dixon and are expanding the investigation with the help of Lee County authorities.

Sheriff Raymond Nehring said that Stevens is the only man charged with an offense in connection with the stolen cars. He added that the others have not been charged since they apparently were not aware that the vehicles had been stolen.

Officials have found that when the cars are stolen, new locks and ignition systems are installed. Many of the cars also were repainted. The three cars recovered in Lee County have been the first seen in this area of the state.

Any individuals who have recently purchased a Lincoln Continental under suspicious circumstances are requested to inform the Lee County Sheriff's Department. A thorough investigation is continuing.

Investigators indicate that further arrests are anticipated.

Rollback by Ford Motors

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co., under attack from the government and its own dealers for raising car prices an average $113 just 11 days ago, has rolled back $97 of the boost, effective immediately.

Ford, the only U.S. car maker to raise prices on all models since 1976 introductory prices were announced last fall, attributed Thursday's rollback to declining sales and early indications it was losing business.

The nation's No. 2 car producer promised to make refunds to its dealers.

Thousands celebrate birthday of Martin Luther King

By The Associated Press
Americans by the thousands, marching to commemorate the 47th anniversary of Martin Luther King's birth, called for full employment and a renewed inquiry into the civil rights leader's assassination.

Coretta Scott King, widow of the slain black leader, led a crowd estimated at more than 15,000 Thursday on a one-mile march in Atlanta, King's home town, to dramatize the call for full employment.

The marchers moved from Ebenezer Baptist Church, where King was copastor with his father, to the downtown business district. Marchers sang “We Shall Overcome,” the anthem of the civil rights movement of the 1960s. But they soon changed the words to “We Want Full Employment.”

It was the eighth annual celebration of King's birth since he was shot to death at a Memphis, Tenn., motel in April 1968. James Earl Ray pleaded guilty to the shooting and is serving life in prison.

In Columbia, S.C., a column of blacks more than a mile long marched to the Capitol to support a demand that King's birthday be declared a state holiday.

In New York, a group calling for a new investigation into King's death demonstrated in front of an FBI office.

A double line of city police and private guards marched in front of Mrs. King in Atlanta. She joined arms with U.S. Rep. Andrew Young, D-Ga., a former aide of King's, and Murray Finley, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

“This is the first time we have marched for full employment on behalf of the Martin Luther King Jr. Center for Social Change,” Mrs. King told a rally in front of the Federal Reserve Building.

“This is the first time we have an issue around which labor could rally—that issue is jobs.”

In New York City, pickets from the Research Action Group on Assassinations issued a statement saying, “We feel that the murderer or murderers are still at large because the case against his accused assassin, James Earl Ray, is clearly inadequate—in fact a frame-up. The federal agency most responsible for this frame-up was the FBI.”

New York Mayor Abraham D. Beame attended the ceremonies in Atlanta and said, “Almost eight years ago, America trembled with sorrow and anger over the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Today, the nation trembles again—this time over the economy.”

Civil rights activist Dick

Gregory led more than 1,000 in a march in Louisville, Ky., and Florida Gov. Reuben Askew declared Martin Luther King Week.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, who succeeded King as president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, vowed in Houston to continue his drive to have King's birthday declared a national holiday.

Ford seeks boost in Social Security tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Ford will propose an increase in Social Security taxes effective Jan. 1, 1977, in the new budget he will send to Congress on Wednesday, The Associated Press learned today.

The increase would be about three-tenths of one percent for both employees and employers, raising the total Social Security tax to 6.15 percent of an employee's salary. The rate now is 5.85 percent.

With the increase Ford will propose, the Social Security tax for an individual in 1977 could total about $1,014.

The Social Security tax in 1976 will apply to the first $15,300 of gross income, up from $14,100 in 1975. It has been estimated the income level will increase to $16,500 in 1977.

The maximum Social Security tax paid by an individual in 1975 was $825.85. This will increase automatically to $895.05 in 1976.

Even without the increase that Ford will propose, the Social Security tax for an individual employee had been projected by government analysts to total $965.25 in 1977.

The budget also will provide for changes in Medicare coverage for the elderly and will allow for full cost of living increases for persons receiving Social Security payments and other government retirement benefits.

The budget itself will provide for expenditures of $394 billion and revenues of $351 billion, leaving a deficit for fiscal 1977 of $43 billion, the second highest deficit since World War II. Ford will tell Congress in his budget message that the proposed increase in Social Security taxes will be unpopular, but he will say it is needed because the government's Social Security Trust Fund is dangerously low.

Ford's changes in the Medicare program would call for an increase in contributions by the elderly who receive the benefits.

But it also will provide that no elderly person would pay more than $500 in a single year for hospital or nursing care that is covered by the program, or more than $250 a year for covered physicians services.

Other parts of the President's budget, which would take effect on Oct. 1, 1976, would consolidate various individual grants to the states for health programs, education for handicapped children, feeding of needy children and social services for the elderly.

By proposing that persons receiving Social Security benefits get the full cost of living allowance now provided by law, Ford will be retreating from his past recommendations that Congress trim the cost of living increases for such programs.

Budget Director James T. Lynn said in an interview Thursday that the federal budget will realistically separate the things the nation can afford to do from those it wants to do.

He also said it will represent an important step toward balancing the federal budget within three years.

Two charged in robberies

ROCHELLE—Rochelle police have charged Oliver Joe Mancillas, 18, Rochelle, and Roger Dale Dickson, 17, Hillcrest, in connection with the armed robberies of two all-night service stations.

At 4 a.m. Thursday, the two youths are accused of holding up the Derby Service Station on the north edge of Rochelle, taking $146 from the station and $45 from a by-standing customer. Shortly later, police said, they entered the Finkbner's Standard Station armed with shotguns and took over $1,000 from the cash register.

Additional charges of burglary were made against the two. These charges stemmed from Tuesday night break-ins at two downtown Rochelle retailing firms reported to Rochelle police Wednesday morning. The House of David interiors were broken into and robbed of a calculator and an undisclosed amount of cash.

That same night Rochelle Ace Hardware was robbed of four shotguns, shotgun shells, several calculators, two pairs of binoculars, and a hunting knife.

Police said that the shotguns used in the robbery of the service stations were those taken from the hardware store the previous night.

Rochelle police said that most of the missing items and money has been recovered.

The youths were being held in Rochelle jail today awaiting transportation to the Ogle County jail in Oregon and court action there.

Geneseo firm to rebuild traffic signals

A contract for $28,785 was awarded to J. F. Edwards Co., Geneseo, to improve the traffic signal at Galena Ave. and Everett St.

The new installation will give Galena Avenue the “green light” at all times, except when cars are waiting on Everett Street to enter Galena. A sensor will note when traffic is waiting on Everett Street and will activate the traffic signal to stop traffic on Galena Avenue.

Another contract for $24,998 was awarded the Rockford Blacktop Construction Co., Loves Park, to furnish and install traffic control signals at the intersection of Blackhawk Street and Union Street in Byron.

Chou En-lai, a devious Mandarin

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Of all the Chinese leaders I have been acquainted with, Chou En-lai was the only one it was impossible to know.

Even in the most casual of conversations he seemed to be playing poker—or perhaps, more accurately, bridge—sizing you up, figuring the angles and percentages, using you, I repeatedly felt, for whatever purpose he had in mind. He said the things calculated to get the responses he desired.

One never knew what he really thought, only what he wanted you to think he thought at that particular time.

By contrast, you knew where the other top Communists stood in their capital Yenan in the 1940s. An exactly how they felt, Mao Tse-tung, Peng Te-hsi, Lin Piao, Chen Yi, Chu Teh, Yeh Chien-ying. You could like them, hate them, or despise them and their thoughts. But you knew what they were. Because they told you in no uncertain terms. Their bluntness made clear how they regarded you and any ideas you might have.

They were blunt. Rough. Strong. Brilliant and singleminded.

In my eight months in Yenan during World War II, the last half of that time as acting commander of the combined U.S. military-diplomatic mission to the Communist capital, I dealt daily with the men who then, and in considerable measure since have ruled mainland China. Some have gone down, others, lower in the pyramid, have come up. The ranks thinned in recent years with deaths and excommunications. But Mao and Chou, Teng and Yeh and a handful of others remained.

Western diplomats, most of whom did not know intimately Chou's background as one-time leader of strong-arm and assassination squads in Shanghai and his opportunistic flips, flops and intrigues against even his close associates within the Communist party, were fascinated by his culture, his grasp of language and diplomacy, his sweet reasonableness with words in a government of men whose language was often rough, abrasive, abusive and extremist.

Timber energy

What happens when we run out of oil and natural gas or, as is likely to happen first, they become prohibitively expensive?

No need to panic, says one authority. We have renewable resources that can replace them—at least to a degree—and one that was, in fact, the traditional source for synthetic goods until the advent of cheap oil and gas: Wood.

All the essential chemical building blocks to make such things as plastics and synthetic rubber can be derived from wood, noted Dr. Irving S. Goldstein of North Carolina State University's school of forest resources in a paper presented at the recent 169th annual meeting of the American Chemical Society in Philadelphia.

"From a chemical point of view," he says, "the molecules don't remember where they came from."

The United States currently produces 18 million tons of synthet-

They came, therefore, to think of Chou as a moderate, friendly pragmatist, not caught up in the fanaticism which seemed to surround him.

To give Chou his due, for all his roughness and his devious ways, he was an intellectual, a Mandarin, whose extended studies and cultured manner would make him a standout in any social or diplomatic gathering. And he had an appreciation of beauty and form in living and dress even in the caves of Yenan, which were in deep contrast to that of most of his peers in the party leadership.

He was not one who seemed to enjoy the somewhat free-wheeling regular Saturday evening barn dances in Yenan indulged in with obvious enjoyment and vigor by almost all of the other party bigwigs, including Mao.

There are those who worry about the effect of Chou's death on U.S.-Chinese relations. They see Chou as the man, on the Chinese side, who opened the door.

Now it is true that Chou was the official who handled the matter. And it is true too that even back in the Yenan days in the 1940s Chou believed the U.S. had much to offer. But then, so did Mao and a goodly chunk of the rest of the leadership. What must be remembered is that Chou could not have moved toward opening the door to the U.S. without the concurrence of the majority of China's effective leadership, including Mao.

Relations with China may change for one reason or another. But it will not be because of Chou's death. Those relationships, however, will, most certainly, become more turbulent on the surface. The blunt style of men like Tang Hsiao-ping will likely prevail. There won't be Chou's silky words. That is, there may be rough diplomatic seas ahead and strong verbal exchanges. But we'll more likely know accurately where we stand in Chinese eyes.

And the Chinese will foster an improved relationship—though probably at arms length—so long as it suits their interests, and no longer. Friendship, or lack of it will not enter the picture.

ic materials a year, consuming between 3 and 5 per cent of all the petroleum used in the country. It would take roughly 50 million tons of wood to replace oil as the basis of the petrochemical industry, Goldstein estimates.

Not only is timber a renewable resource, the type of wood needed is low-grade timber, which exists in abundance. Much of it is now discarded in pulp factories.

Technically, wood could also be converted into fuel. The processing of wood alcohol is an ancient art. In research by the Bureau of Mines, wood was successfully converted into an oil that compared well with crude oil, both economically and chemically.

But while we have enough timber to meet the needs of the petrochemical industry, Goldstein doubts that there is enough to take the place of petroleum for fuel.

It might be a good idea to start planting trees, anyway.

Albania is churchless

TIRANA (LENS)—In one European country, no church bells rang at Christmas. Such bells as survive in Albania lie among the nettles in a forgotten corner outside an archaeological museum. In any case there are no church towers for the bells to peal from; they have been razed, to obliterate the memory of the pre-Marxist-Leninist era.

The church buildings, now converted into cinemas, youth clubs or other "cultural centers," have been made as unrecognizable as possible, often literally white-washed, to purify them of what Albanians call their "anti-social and anti-scientific" past.

Even for the most godless foreign tourist, the churchlessness of Albania is oddly disturbing. The natural landscape is romantically beautiful, as both Byron and Edward Lear found it. But the absence of church towers—and also of minarets, except for half a dozen permitted to survive on grounds of historic interest—creates a sense of something missing, not assuaged by the new tall factory chimneys dominating mountain valleys.

When the churches were abolished, the priests were told to go and work honestly like other men; an unknown number, however, "who were also enemies of the people," were executed. The Vatican is said to have continued trying to smuggle religious literature into

Albania, first in the luggage of travelers, next in plastic bottles thrown into the sea off the coast—all in vain. (Foreign tourists are warned in advance nowadays not to take Bibles into Albania.)

Religious observances in private homes are not banned by law but they may be denounced in fly-sheets pasted on walls, which is a fairly effective form of social pressure.

The abolition of all places of religious worship, Catholic, Orthodox or Moslem, stems from a 1967 speech by Albania's party leader, Enver Hoxha, who was backed by Tito as wartime Communist leader in 1941 and is still in remarkably effective control of Albania today.

This speech could be seen as a bid to vie with Peking in revolutionary fervor. Notably, official Albanian history does not mention China in connection with the anti-religious movement (in fact, it mentions China hardly at all).

Albanians take a defiant pride in showing foreign tourists their atheist museum at Shkoder. The curator, a charming ex-Moslem, before displaying exhibits designed to show religion as a cheat and a sham, and priests as deceivers and exploiters of the honest workers, points first to Marx's dictum that religion is the opiate of the people, then to Enver Hoxha's that it is the tool of the foreign oppressor against Albania.

He was responsible for parting Bamboo Curtain

Too much news from back home

By TOM TIEDE
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Soon after assuming office in 1934, a now dead congressman from California named John McGroarty wrote a constituent that "one of the countless drawbacks of being in Congress is that I am compelled to receive impertinent letters from a jackass like you." Several lines later he closed, urging his correspondent to "please take two running jumps and go to hell."

No doubt every member of the national legislature has been tempted with this kind of release from time to time, and with good reason. Far from being the valuable aid to lawmakers that mythology has insisted, letters to Congress people are a serious problem. Not because some of the notes are impertinent, but because taken together congressional mail is all but too voluminous to handle.

The bulk of the incoming correspondence is bad enough—some 25 million pieces a year to the House of Representatives, and though no figures are kept in the Senate at least another 20 million on that side of the Capitol. But further, all of it must be answered, for response is considered both a moral and political duty. Thus time, effort and money must endlessly be spent in reply to each schoolchild's request for autographs, each angry voter's demand for attention.

The result then is a superlative nightmare. This fiscal year congressional members will spend up to $36,000 each, or more than $40 million together, on an estimated 320 million units of franked mail. By comparison, this is 10 times what it was in John McGroarty's time. Not all of it goes to constituents, of course (Congress sends more than 200,000 letters annually just to the Pentagon), but the form letter pap to the folks back home constitutes the fat of the whole.

Form letters? Though perhaps half of the working hours logged in Capitol Hill are spent on mail work, there still is not enough time for very much more than standardized replies to constituent letters. The members themselves, actually, see only a tiny fraction of their correspondence, the mail often being handled by teen-age volunteers who, in many cases, read the incoming, fashion replies and even forge the inevitable "Warm Regards" from, say, Missouri Rep. James Symington.

A onetime volunteer in Symington's office says that the student help does not always answer constituents willy nilly. "Sometimes I was given instructions. I remember when I got a letter on abortion, for instance, I was instructed to 'answer ambiguously.' I thought that was funny because how can you talk about abortion ambiguously? You're either for it or against it." Other times the ambiguous answer is easier. "If we got a letter saying 'Dear Congressman, why are you a creep?' we had a form reply which said 'Thank you for your interest, if you have any other questions please write me back.'"

The form letter has its drawbacks, certainly. Former Texas Rep. John Dowdy, who standardized his replies to cover everything from births to anniversaries, once sent a note of condolence to a man who had shotgunned his wife to death. For the most part, however, the phony personalization works well. Most representatives rent IBM machines that enable "Dear Mr. Jones" to get several paragraphs of ambiguity that Mr. Jones would swear was typed by the representative's own busy fingers. The Senate is even more efficient, and removed. It pools the IBM machines so that the same ambiguities can be sent to a rightwinger in Mississippi and a revolutionary in northern New Jersey.

All of this nonsense, assuredly, but of a sacred variety. Few members will admit the postal link with their public is forged by a kid working in the office with rock music plugged to his ear. Most insist the letters are valuable signals from the people. And occasionally they may be. Over the years New York Rep. Edward Pattison has received so many letters on the subject of cruelty to animals that without investigation or inquiry of his own he has recently been moved to co-sponsor a House bill addressed to the matter.

Still, only ideologists fancy that letters to Congress count for much. If you really want results, sigh, better you should send contributions.

By DON OAKLEY
Only the departure of Mao Tse-tung himself to join his ancestors would have generated a greater or more "un-Chinese" outpouring of official mourning and eulogizing than did the death of Chou En-lai.

It was a final remarkable tribute to a remarkable man.

For years it was taken for granted by China-watchers, and presumably by the Chinese themselves, that Chou—premier and No. 2 man in the Chinese Communist hierarchy, who at one time seemed to run China virtually singlehanded on a day-to-day basis—would inherit the aging Mao's mantle. Few observers anticipated that he might pre-decease Mao.

But Chou himself was aging and was, as we now know, stricken by cancer. For the last few years of his life he was continuously hospitalized. Even so, to the outside world Chou continued to represent the semblance if not the actuality of power in China. Whatever subtle realignments and shifting of authority his long incapacity must have occasioned remain as yet unclear.

Mao Tse-tung, that semi-mythical, deified figure, now remains alone as the last of the original Chinese communists. All the rest are gone, either through death or defection or purge. The passing of Chou En-lai now makes more obvious than anything else could the great void of leadership that exists between Mao and the masses.

First Deputy Premier Teng Hsiao-ping, whose name most Americans never heard until President Ford's trip to China last fall, gives more the impression of being an interim or caretaker administrator than the new heir to Mao.

Again unlike most other Chinese Communists, Chou En-lai was well known outside his country long before President Nixon's historic visit in March, 1972—that dramatic parting of the bamboo curtain for which Chou was so greatly responsible. For nine years before and during World War II, he had been liaison man between the Communists, Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists and Western representatives in Chungking.

He was named premier and foreign minister of the people's republic at its founding in 1949, and was the only premier it has ever had. In 1954, he represented China at the Geneva conference on Vietnam, at which was laid the ground for America's later tragic involvement in that country.

It was in 1972, however, that Chou attained something almost like popularity in the United States as host and toastmaster to the American presidential and press entourage.

The face of China that Chou presented to Americans via satellite television was an attractive one. Surely, one thought, if this urbane, gracious and obviously highly intelligent man was typical of the "new Chinese," there was no reason in the world why our two countries could not resolve their differences, initiate a mutually beneficial trade relationship and cooperate in coming years to preserve the peace in at least half the world.

Not all these great expectations have been realized. But while nothing that can be called warm relations has developed between the United States and China, there has been no relapse into the pre-1972 freeze. The presence of the Russian bear on China's northern border alone insures there will not be.

For his role in making China a world power to be reckoned with and in bring in about a new era in Chinese American relations, Chou En-lai has earned a unique place in the history of both countries.

Detailing Kreider funding

I wish to clear up any misconceptions your readers may have obtained from Tuesday's article in your paper regarding the County Board rejection of funds for Kreider Services.

It is not true, as stated in your article, that "local taxes totaling $150,000 go toward operations of the center annually." In actuality, local funds received by our program are $15,000 from the County Board of Health and $7,000 from the Dixon United Fund, totaling $22,000 for 30 Lee County clients. This represents $733 per annum per client. In contrast we do receive $150,000 from the Department of Mental Health, the bulk of which goes to provide services for the 45 former Dixon Developmental Center patients now residing in Lee County. These figures represent approximately $2,733 per annum per client. This figure, in addition to the cost of their room and board (approximately $5,400 maximum) to a local facility compares to the $11,648 required to keep a patient at the Dixon Developmental Center for one year. This is a minimum saving to the taxpayer of $4,415 per year per client.

Our willingness to serve former Dixon Developmental Center clients has increased the Department of Mental Health monetary support for our program thereby strengthening our total program.

We welcome all visitors to our programs—both at Kreider Center (Rt. 38, Airport Industrial Park) and Truman Center (1405 W. Third) and will be glad to answer all questions regarding funding and use of those funds.

Things Dixon Talked About

10 YEARS AGO
Leroy Glessner has returned from Detroit, Mich., where he attended the annual board meeting of the Men's Garden Clubs of America (MGCA), and was installed as a director for a three-year term. He was also reappointed chairman of the MGCA New Clubs Committee a position he has held during the past year.

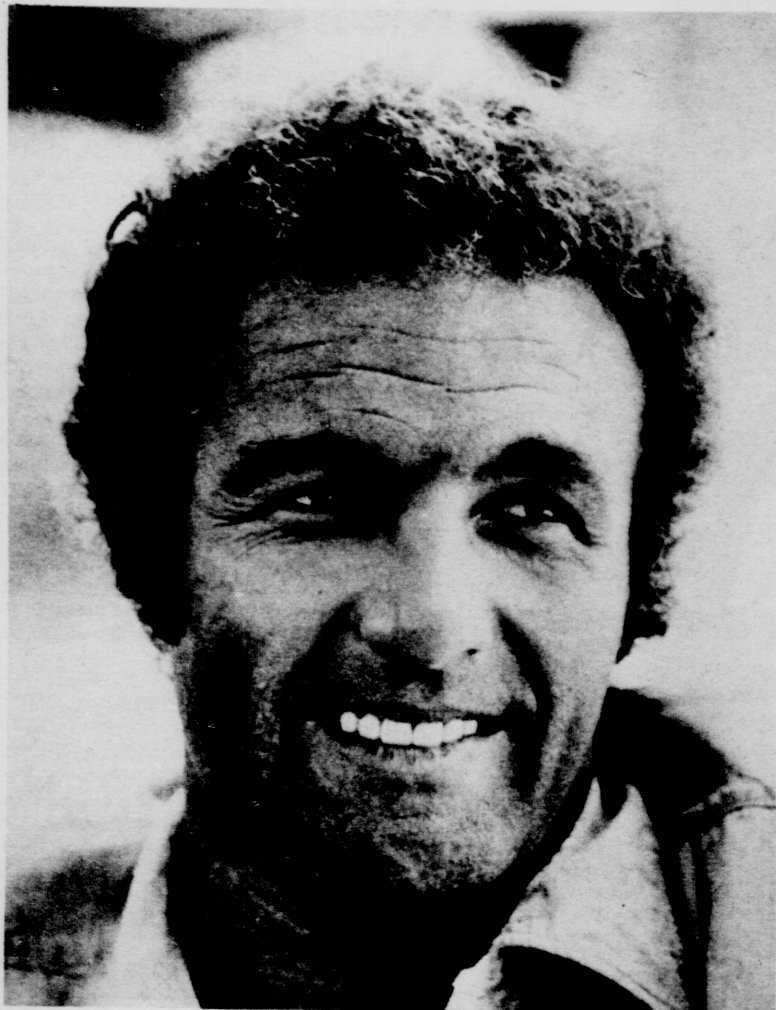

The Dixon Unit, Mothers of World War II, will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in Loveland Community House to sew for hospitalized veterans. A 12:30 p.m. luncheon will precede an afternoon business meeting which will include the installation of newly elected officers and a memorial service honoring a member of the unit.

25 YEARS AGO
"Tish" is the name of the play selected by the Dixon Community Players for their spring production. This was discussed at the regular meeting of the players held Thursday evening. After a short business meeting, games were played and refreshments served.

One hundred girls of Dixon High School attended the Sonja Henie Ice Show Saturday evening in Chicago. The Girls Athletic Association of the school sponsored the trip which was made in three buses. Leaving Dixon at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, some of the girls went sightseeing in Chicago and shopping while others visited the Art Institute and saw "South Pacific."

Two stars find trouble on Friday night TV

James Caan stars as an ex-con who discovers he was better off behind bars when his search for a hidden fortune leads him right into trouble, in "Slither," to be shown for the first time on television on "The CBS Friday Night Movies," Friday, Jan. 23, 8-10 p.m. in color on Channel 4.

Rockford's attorney, Beth Davenport (Gretchen Corbett), finds her romance with a debonair comptroller involves her in danger, in "A Portrait of Elizabeth," on NBC-TV's "The Rockford Files," Friday, Jan. 23, 8-9 p.m.

Karen Logan (left), who for three years was a member of the All-American Redheads, a touring pro basketball squad, takes the court against Jerry West (right), one of the two best guards ever to play in the National Basketball Association and the third leading scorer in the history of the league, in a shootout to be broadcast by CBS in "The Challenge of the Sexes," Saturday, 3:30-4 p.m., on Channel 4.

Ask Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: I have just seen Woody Allen and Diane Keaton's movie, "Love and Death," for the second fabulous time. Could you please disclose what the relationship is between them? Also, could you tell me who wrote the music?— CHRISTOPHER J. MILLS, Riverview, N.B., Can.

Woody and Diane used to be very close and dated seriously. Their relationship has changed from romantic to professional. They are currently at the status that is usually described as "just good friends." The "Love and Death" music is made up of various themes by Prokofiev.

DEAR DICK: On S.W.A.T., recently I've seen Hondo with a love interest. But in the past he was always married. So what gives?— J. P., Centralia, Ill.

Gives a change in the show. There have been a few changes, designed to perk the whole thing up. One was the decision to drop the character of Hondo's wife, in an effort to give the program a new dimension. Now Hondo (Steve Forrest) can have some flirtations. In effect, they unmarried him.

DEAR DICK: With all the great knowledge you have of the motion picture industry, would it be possible for you to find out who played the leads in "The Quest," a movie I think came out in 1924. The director was Herbert Brennen. The leading lady was Lili Damita. Was Ronald Colman the leading man?— VERA AMEY, Fillmore, Calif.

That great knowledge sent me directly to my reference shelf. I find no record of a '24 film called "The Quest." You may be thinking of "The Rescue," from '29, which co-starred Lili Damita and Ronald Colman and was directed by a man named Herbert Brenon.

DEAR DICK: A friend of mine told me that the Hager Twins were arrested for the murder of Stringbean, that Stringbean's musical instrument was found in their possession. Is this true?— AGNES FULTON, Logansport, Ind.

No. The Hagers were uninvolved in that case. Somebody else was arrested for the crime.

DEAR DICK: Will you please let me know what year Hee Haw first came on TV?— THE WHOLE FAMILY, Bayou La Batre, Ala.

Hee Haw started out as a network show in '69, but was dropped two years later. It reappeared as a syndicated show later in '71, and has been sailing along solidly ever since. Corn, obviously, is commercial.

DEAR DICK: In "Gone With the Wind," was the actor who played Stuart Tarleton the same one who played Superman in the TV series?— N. R., Wallingford, Conn.

Yes. "Gone With the Wind" was George Reeves' first film.

DEAR DICK: Could you tell me if Joan Rivers has a sister who is a comedienne, too?— MARTHA WADERKER, Brilliant, Ohio.

Joan says she has a sister, but she is not in show business.

DEAR DICK: Can you please tell me if Henry Winkler, who plays Fonzie on Happy Days, died in a car accident recently?— GARY GRUSHKEVICH, Follansbee, E. Va.

DEAR DICK: Is it true that Fonzie of Happy Days (Henry Winkler) died from an overdose?— JANET BLAZICH, Pueblo, Colo.

Every week, it seems, rumors sweep the country about the death of one star or another. This week, it's Henry Winkler's turn. No, he didn't die. No car accident, no overdose, no nothing.

DEAR DICK: I've never seen the McMillan's baby on McMillan & Wife. They never mention it at all. What happened to it?— A. A., Williamsport, Md.

On the last show of last season, there were two or three mentions of the baby, who was a boy. But this year the producers felt the addition of the baby was not a vital element, so they elected to omit it. Presumably, the kid could still pop up some time, but current plays are not to mention it again.

- 8:00 "WIDOW" Michael Learned as woman trying to raise her two children and maintain her own emotional stability after her husband's death. 6, 17
- "FROM HELL TO TEXAS" Don Murray, Diane Varsi. Story of a young, peace-loving man who tries in every way possible to avoid violence. His intentions, however, are steadily marred by the ruthless efforts of a revenge-crazed cattle baron who wrongly believes him to have killed one of his sons. 9
- 10:30 "THE WHIRLPOOL" Gene Tierney, Richard Conte. Unbeknownst to her psychiatrist-husband, a wife suffers from kleptomania and has fallen under the spell of a hypnotist. Compelled one night to remove a patient's records from her husband's files, she finds a woman's body and is charged with murder. 9
- "TAKE THE HIGH GROUND" Richard Widmark, Karl Malden. 23

Shirley MacLaine stars in "Gypsy in My Soul," a musical, comedic and dramatic special celebrating the chorus "gypsy" (the theatrical term for boys and girls of the chorus). The special, with guest star Lucille Ball, will be broadcast Tuesday, Jan. 20, 9-10 p.m., on Channel 4.

A short course in college economics

In just eight years, experts predict the average cost of sending today's 10-year-old to a four-year state university will exceed $30,000.

And at an annual inflation rate of 7%, the cost of sending a child to college can double every ten years.

How do you make sure the money's ready when your child's ready for college? Life insurance from Country Life helps many families.

Call your Country Companies agent. He knows the ways life insurance can help you get through college economics.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE F-677: Lola D., aged 23, was on my gynecology service when I interned at Chicago's Wesley Memorial Hospital. She worked for a madame in a house of prostitution in the redlight district, and was in the hospital because of venereal infection.

"Dr. Crane," she confessed, "I came to Chicago when I was 17, having run away from my home in a small Wisconsin village."

"I had accompanied a man who said he was a Hollywood scout and claimed he could get me a job in the movies. But I finally learned that he was a pimp, procuring girls for a madame here in Chicago, and that's where I got forced into working for her as a prostitute. When I first arrived in Chicago, I was thus a dumb small town girl, but I have learned a lot about men since then."

"For all girls like me soon find out that men expect us to moan and groan and thresh our hips around and act like we are very sexy."

"Then they will ask for us the next time they come to Chicago for their conventions."

"Besides, they give us a bigger tip if we make them think they have excited us to a frenzy of passion.

"Actually, however, we girls merely put on an act, for it is just business with us and our passion is put on to make the customer feel prouder of himself."

Sex for $$$$ Women are voluntarily interested in sex primarily for two main reasons.

One is their belief they are involved in a "true love" romance.

The other is their desire for $$$, or other social and political advantages.

In the Bible, Tamar (Genesis, Ch. 38) thus enticed Judah to remove her social stigma of being childless.

Delilah (Judges, Ch. 16) probably became Samson's pet harlot because of his prestige as the world's strongest man.

But $$$ and politics also were part of her motivation.

Impressionable girls in small towns are especially gullible regarding the chance to get in the movies or on TV.

So pimps find it easy to deceive them into coming to the big cities, where they first become the unwed sweetie of their supposed Romeo.

But he soon shoves them into regular work for a madame at a house of prostitution, as Lola has explained.

But the greatest tragedy in such commercialized sexual vice, is the fact that the male customers then go back to their home towns to pontificate about the wild inherent sexual passion of ALL women!

They don't know the prostitutes deceived them!

So the teen-age young fellows who listen to their lurid accounts of the frenzied passion of such harlots, then develop the entirely false notion that all women are naturally endowed with even more sexual ardor than are men.

Later, when such misled youth marry and find that their young brides soon grow somewhat diffident and evasive about their boudoir function, then these husbands begin to suspect their wives are either carrying the torch for a former suitor.

Or are actually having clandestine affairs with another man during the husband's hours at his office or factory job.

Then bitter domestic quarrelling ensues, even extending to unwarranted caustic criticism of the innocent children in that home.

Yet all of these sexual feuds could be avoided by such frank and scientific newspaper dissection of the sex differences between men and women as you see in this daily "Worry Clinic."

So send for the booklet "Sex Problem in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of the Dixon Evening Telegraph, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

The Doctor Says:

Spastic colon problem should be evaluated

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have a real problem. My doctor says I have a spastic colon. I have been on a bulk diet taking bran. Each morning I eat bran buds and 40 per cent bran with skim milk, no sugar. And I have tried bowel training and taking two glasses of liquids with breakfast that you suggest. Still nothing seems to help.

I have lots of gas and distension. My stomach is stretched from the gas and I am so uncomfortable part of the time that I just lie on my back and try not to move. My bowel movements are frequent or tend to be on the diarrhea side.

Do you have any suggestions at all that might help me?

DEAR READER—It is important that anyone with such a problem have a careful and complete evaluation. You may just be swallowing air and that is sometimes associated with nervous tension.

You may have milk intolerance. Some people lack the enzyme necessary to split lactose, the double sugar in milk. The sugar can't be absorbed with splitting and it acts somewhat like a chemical laxative, causing severe bloating and gasousness in some people and symptoms that are similar to severe cases of spastic colon.

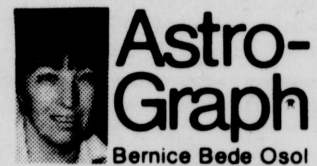

You can find out if milk is your problem by eliminating all milk and milk products completely from your diet, and see what happens to your symptoms. That includes eliminating cheese and foods prepared using milk such as puddings, milk gravies and sauces.

There has been a tendency to minimize the frequency of milk intolerance in our population. A recent report in the New England Journal of Medicine (May 29, 1975), a prestigious professional journal for doctors, points out how wrong that view really is. Doctors from Johns Hopkins School of Medicine found out that over 80 per cent of adult blacks and 12 per cent of adults from European extraction have milk intolerance on this basis. Most American Indians, Ashkenazic Jews and Orientals are commonly intolerant to lactose in milk.

Contrary to previous concepts the Johns Hopkins study showed that as little as one glass of milk would produce severe symptoms in over half of the people they studied who were lactose intolerant. So it doesn't take much milk in half of the people to cause problems like you have.

The real problem is that nothing much is being done about it. The Dairy Research group is working on the problem. But to my chagrin, in contacting large dairies I find that the amount of effort being made by some companies is shockingly small indeed.

That kind of a reply stimulates me to use some language that couldn't be printed in my column. Since the available market is about 80 per cent of the nation's adult blacks, and over 10 per cent of the adult white population plus other groups mentioned, it would take a Neanderthal not to realize the size of the market available. If the dairy industry can't sell such a product to the public it would have to be because of poor marketing practices, not because of the lack of a market.

Young clothing designer making success of her own company

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Fashion designer Alice Blaine, unmarried, started her own business a year and a half ago, when she was only 30, in a recession, to design and hand make expensive, luxurious women's clothes.

If that sounds foolhardy, she says, everybody else certainly told her it was at the time. Factors, who are the moneylenders of the fashion industry, gave her three weeks. The accountant she hired told her he probably wouldn't have to file forms with the government because she probably wouldn't last in business 20 weeks.

She got discouraged, but at the same time more determined. And when 1975's accounting is done—by an accountant with more faith in her, or at least more tact—she says, "I expect to have sold $1 million for the year."

So far she has produced blouses, skirts, pants and suits. A typical cutting is 200 to 300 of each. She is working on a dress which will be ready in a few months. Most of the fabric is silk, with some fine worsted and gabardine, some cashmere.

Psychologically, she says, she thought American women were ready for such luxury clothes, and only European designers were producing them. Her customers are "A. Those people who are rich, who don't ask price. They always have money to buy something."

"B. People who do ask price and want value for their money. They ask, 'Will this last?' 'Will I get tired of it?' 'Will I feel great when I wear it?' 'Is it beautiful?'"

"That's the philosophy behind investment buying. In a recession, people are no longer frivolous in their buying. They don't buy five T-shirts in different colors because they're $10."

"Silk is strong and durable. They used to make parachutes out of it. The Chinese made sheets out of it and the thread would wear out before the sheets and they'd sew them up again."

"There are a lot of pitfalls to cutting and sewing silk; silk shirts have to be cut one at a time and it's expensive, but I like to use fabrics that feel wonderful when you put them on. Part of clothes being important and exciting is how they make you feel when you wear them. Clothes are a psychological extension of our personalities."

"If you love something it should last through continuous wearing. The more you wear a silk shirt, the more it shapes to your body and the softer it gets. After you lose respect for the price, you just wear it to death—tucked in, belted, tied at the waist, with a sweater over."

Miss Blaine's clothes are mostly hand sewn. What machine sewing is done she contracts out, usually to a family of craftsmen with a few sewing machines in the basement of their home.

DESIGNER Alice Blaine drapes a silk blouse, with deep cowl neck that unfolds to become a hood, on her house model. Miss Blaine teams the top with tri-color silk sash and silk drawstring pants which she also designed.

Skirts are long, mid-calf, straight or with 38 pleats sewed down about eight inches—a style that's not often made, she says, because each pleat has to be basted before it's sewed down, or skin tight down to the knee, with a flounce effect there for contrast. "That one comes in under your behind. It's quite a new shape; I'm always experimenting with new shapes. Quite a few department stores and boutiques around the country have done well with it."

"The hips, the behind and the stomach are becoming erogenous zones for clothes. Most of the detail in the past has been across the chest."

Showing tiny French seams, so that a garment really could be worn inside out, Miss Blaine says, "Nobody makes clothes so carefully."

However, she says, the woman who wants to buy something because the other members of her bridge club will recognize the name of the designer isn't a customer of hers.

She's not anxious for fame, saying, "I'm not on a star trip," and says she gets satisfaction knowing that she has made a garment which is beautiful and will last, continuing to look good.

Before she started the business, she had been designing for several sportswear manufacturers. There, a typical problem was looking at two bolts of material and trying to decide which the boss would like better, a rather unreal feeling. Now she says, the problems are real—which fabric is better, will cut better, look better finished.

But at first, the problems were not so enjoyable. The textile business runs on credit, she explains. She orders a bolt of material, say for $10. A factor pays the fabric maker $9.98 and 60 days later, she pays the factor.

The factors would phone, ask if she was Miss or Mrs., who was running the company, who was advising the company, use jargon she didn't understand, then ask in a nasty tone, did she know what she was doing? "It was infuriating. Would they have asked a Mr. Blaine if he was married? The problem was that there was no man involved in the business and it was unthinkable to them that a woman can run a business. Now we've got a track record, but at first I had to buy a lot of fabric by cash."

"Also, there's a lot of schlepping in this business. A 100-yard bolt of gabardine weighs 112 pounds. Three of us women would pick it up. We didn't have the luxury of hiring a man to schlepp."

"I had no idea of all the administrative details. I didn't know that to get your mail you have to file forms with the Post Office, the special taxes, how to read the figures the accountant sent over."

"If I'd known the pitfalls, I probably wouldn't have done it. Designing is the easiest part, because it comes naturally. But now, I'm not sorry. I can take pride in my craft."

Secretaries take heed to advice of boss' wife

Dear Ann: You recently printed a letter from a secretary who felt it was her Christian duty to tell her boss to "stop making a jackass out of himself." I have a few words for HER. (She signed her letter "Secretary to A Nut.")

Dear Meddler: I am the wife of your boss. What makes you think I am blind, deaf, dumb? I love my husband and I understand his needs and his weaknesses better than you.

I am not suffering from loneliness, disgrace, shame or lack of companionship. If I can accept this situation and have decided it is better than the alternative, what business is it of yours?

As for the "laughing hyenas in the back room," why don't you all get back to work? That's what you're being paid for. I'm signing myself—Aware, Alert and At Peace

Dear AAA: Here's your letter. I hope those needlenosed dames who believe it's their "Christian duty" to wise up the boss's wife will take heed.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm embarrassed to discuss this problem because I provoked it. Please help me.

Clifford and I have been married 12 years. Every night he locks his wallet in a trunk and hides the key. It drives me crazy.

Six years ago he caught me going through his wallet. There wasn't a darned thing in it except $6, identification and his union card. I snooped because he used to put his wallet in his pants pocket, roll up his pants and sleep with them under his pillow. Naturally, I was suspicious and decided to investigate.

How can I get Clifford to leave his wallet on the dresser like most husbands? So help me, I will never snoop again if he'll give me another chance. I just want to be trusted.—Under Suspicion

Dear U.S.: Tell your husband how important it is for him to give you another chance. I'll even go to bat for you:

Clifford, dear: Please leave your wallet on the dresser tonight, as a symbol of a "new start." I'm sure your wife has learned her lesson. What's more, I'll bet there isn't a bloomin' thing in your wallet you wouldn't want her to see. Drop me a card and say you took my advice. It would make my day.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you PLEASE say something to people who insist on yelling into the phone as if they were speaking to China?

I'm a switchboard operator. You wouldn't believe the amount of aspirin I take every day for headaches. I use a star set which is similar to the headset used by astronauts. It consists of a thin mouthpiece and a jack that fits into the ear. It's like a knife in the head when someone yells into the phone.

When I ask people to please speak more quietly, they usually argue with me and scream, "I'M NOT YELLING!" Sometimes I hold the phone ONE FOOT (no exaggeration) from my ear and I can still hear the party plain as day! I'm not the only switchboard operator with this problem. Please, Ann, help us all.—Big Apple Operator

Dear Apple: Here's your letter, but don't expect it to help. Telephone habits die hard. Your best bet is to ask the shriekers, in a honey-dripping voice, to please speak more softly because your equipment is very sensitive.

Non-conventional 3 N. T.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
You don't have to use a convention if you don't want to. Hence, North decided to just bid three notrump instead of trying to find a 4-4 spade fit.

Sixteen opposite 10 just adds to 26 and since both North and South had 4-3-3-3 distribution, they could expect the play for game to be a tough one.

East won the heart lead, decided that his partner had led the top of nothing, so East shifted to the deuce of clubs. West's queen was allowed to hold the trick. Clubs were continued and this time South won with his ace.

South led the queen of diamonds. If West had let it hold, the chances are that South would have gone set. But West took his ace in order to clear the clubs.

Now South could count to eight tricks. One spade, three hearts, two diamonds and two clubs. He needed the spade fi-

Dieters stalk stuffed celery

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

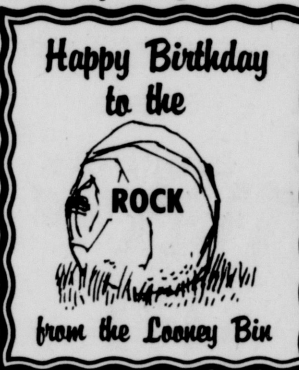

Next time you want to make some nibbles that are inexpensive, filling, not too fattening, just stuff some celery. Make a "liver Pate" stuffing using liverwurst and cream cheese. Dieters may find this a firm way to forestall urges for raiding the refrigerator for desserts.

LIVER PATE STUFFED CELERY

- 1/2 pound liverwurst, softened
- 1 package (8 ounce) cream cheese, softened
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon onion powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 12 ribs celery, cut into 3-inch lengths

In a medium bowl beat together liverwurst, cream cheese, milk, onion powder, salt and black pepper. Beat until smooth. Refrigerate at least 1 hour. Stuff celery with cheese mixture or, if desired, spoon liverwurst mixture into a paste bag with a star tip. Pipe into celery. Garnish plate with celery leaves, if desired. Makes about 2 cups filling.

Nachusa Chapter

Mrs. J. Olin Hall recently entertained Nachusa Chapter of Quilters in her home.

During the business meeting led by Chairman Mrs. Verne Johnson, plans were discussed for a silent auction to be held along with the regular meeting next month.

The program for the evening was presented by Mrs. Robert Brauer, whose topic was "Early Scrap Books." "From the beginning of time, human beings have used pictures to record events they want to remember. Cavemen drew pictures of animals with colored chalkstone and charcoal on the sides and roofs of their cave dwellings," said Mrs. Brauer.

She related that through the printing press and lithographing, duplication of pictures became more available and individuals began collecting their own pictures. Mrs. Brauer said, "Scrap albums were purchased at a nominal cost and pictures were collected and skillfully arranged and mounted. Among the earlier pictures collected for scrapbooks were advertising trade cards.

Specialized scrapbooks on specific subjects are often found and subjects are limitless. Today, there are still many possibilities for interesting scrapbooks," Mrs. Brauer concluded.

Various scrapbooks were displayed containing colorful pictures of the past.

A social hour followed with refreshments.

UCTA Auxiliary

The United Commercial Travelers of America Auxiliary No. 429 will meet at 7:30 p.m., at the Stony Point Lounge Monday.

Ma-Di-Na Homemakers

Ma-Di-Na Homemakers Extension met recently.

The major lesson, "Planning Home Economics Extension Programs in 1976," was given by Mrs. Robert Boward and Mrs. Daniel Hembrough.

Mrs. Joseph Szabo presented a new member, Mrs. Paul Girardi, with a paper pin and gift from the unit. Two other new members were not able to attend. "How to Pack a Suitcase," was the minor lesson, presented by Mrs. Alvin Harden Jr. Mrs. Harden also served on voluntary action for the month of January and took care of the bulletin board at the Leydig Center.

Mrs. George Pitzer Jr. and Mrs. Harland Chamberlain were hostesses.

The Ma-Di-Na Extension handi-craft meeting will be held Monday at 7 p.m., with Mrs. Richard Otto, Eldena, to make wallpaper beads. Members are asked to bring pencil, glue, ruler, scissors, dental floss and a needle.

Whiteside-Lee Dental Assistants

The January meeting of the Whiteside-Lee Dental Assistants was held recently in the office of Dr. J. Hochstatter of Amboy. The president, Evelyn Elliott, presided over the meeting.

Dr. Hochstatter presented an informative program on his procedures of denture making using models for each step from the patients first visit until his last visit. A question and answer period followed each step. It was decided to have a booth set up at the Northland Mall during Dental Health week Feb. 7 and 8.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Evelyn Elliott and Betty Donna.

Due to the A.D.A. Midwinter meeting in February the next meeting will be March, in the home of Bonnie Hanabarger.

PAF

Presbyterian Adult Fellowship will meet Monday for a 6:30 p.m., scramble dinner in the social hall of the church. Mr. and Mrs. George Lindquist will give an illustrated program of their trip to the Scandinavian countries.

Writers' course being offered

The community services program at Sauk Valley College this spring will include a special non-credit workshop designed to assist local writers in preparing their work for sale and publication. The eight-week workshop will meet on Thursday evening from 7 to 9 p.m., in Room 126 at Dixon High School.

James Barber, assistant dean for adult and continuing education, said the session will be taught by Mrs. Claire Metzger. The first class session will be held on Jan. 22 and the workshop will end on March 18. Barber said there is no charge for this workshop and pointed out that students will have an opportunity to critique the work of other class members as well as to learn sources of publication.

Ticketed after car collision

Lee County Sheriff's deputies charged Gail M. Warnken, 17, rural Polo, with driving too fast for conditions following a two-car mishap Thursday afternoon.

Warnken was northbound on Ill. 26, near Timber Creek Road, when the accident occurred. As she attempted to pass a car driven by Robert H. Maresh, Jr., she lost control of her car. The car spun around on the snow-covered pavement and struck the side of Maresh's car.

Snowmobilers blamed for fence damage

Snowmobilers were blamed for damage done to fencing in rural Steward. Mrs. Don Batchelder reported Thursday that electrical fencing valued at $25 was torn up along County Line Road. Seventeen animals were let loose when the fencing was destroyed, reports indicated. Lee County Sheriff's deputies are investigating the incident.

CB club to meet

Land of Lincoln CB Radio Club will meet Sunday at 10 a.m. at the Farm Bureau building in Amboy.

Four of the six officers of the Sauk Area Arts Council, a non-profit area organization promoting the arts and crafts, are pictured above. The Council will be sponsoring its third annual Festival of the Arts and Crafts from Feb. 13-15 at Sauk Valley College. Left to right, are: Mrs. June Holland, Polo, newly elected finance chairman; Mrs. Nancy Butt, Sterling, newly elected secretary; Mrs. Milly Cole, Sterling, festival coordinator and council president; and Mrs. Suzanne Williams, Dixon, festival exhibit chairman. Not pictured were Mrs. Normal Sandell, Morrison, Bicentennial film chairman for the festival; and Robert Oltmans, Rock Falls, festival art chairman. Persons interested either in the Sauk Area Arts Council or the third annual Festival of the Arts and Crafts are encouraged to contact any of the officers for further information about that group's activities.

Telegraph plans publication of Heritage Edition

The Dixon Evening Telegraph is planning the publication of a more than 100-page issue to commemorate the United States Bicentennial Year. The edition will be published on Feb. 28 and will be known as "The Heritage Edition." It will be an historical review of all aspects of the development of the local area, the state and the nation. In the history of The Telegraph there have been two great historical editions. One was for the Dixon Centennial Sept. 21, 1930, and the other for the 100th anniversary of this newspaper which occurred on May 1, 1951. The Telegraph staff hopes the 1975 Heritage Edition will take its place as the third great historical edition published during the 125 years of operation of the Dixon Evening Telegraph. Robert H. Nellis, managing editor, will have general supervision of the historical articles to appear in the edition, and welcomes readers to submit items of local historical interest. Extra copies of the Feb. 28 edition will be available because this issue will be one of the collector editions published by The Telegraph.

Seminar for workshop supervisors planned

A special seminar entitled "Administrative Techniques for Workshop Supervisors" will be sponsored at Sauk Valley College according to Richard Holtam, Public Services-Human Services department head. The seminar will run for eight consecutive weeks beginning Tuesday. Class sessions will meet from 7-9 p.m., in the Work Activities Center at the Pearson Building on the grounds of the Dixon Developmental Center. Tuition for the one credit class is $15. It may be paid in advance at the Registrar's Office at SVC or at the first class session. Holtam said the seminar is open to the staff of community-based rehabilitation facilities as well as workshop personnel employed at the Dixon Developmental Center. Mike Mugharbel, vocational coordinator at the Dixon Developmental Center, will conduct the seminar. Course content is designed to assist in the training and development of supervisors and administrators for rehabilitation facilities. Examination will be made of the primary needs which should be met to fulfill effective services to the disabled, disadvantaged and deprived in our area.

Deaths, Funerals

Thomas E. Hollaway

STERLING— Thomas E. Hollaway, 69, rural Sterling, died in his home Thursday morning. He was born Aug. 10, 1906, in Oklahoma, the son of Thomas F. and Martha (Ballanch) Hollaway, and was married to Lila Forristall Aug. 10, 1930, in Princeton.

Hollaway was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, Sterling. He retired from Northwestern Steel and Wire Co., Sterling, in August of 1971. He was preceded in death by a brother.

Survivors include his widow; one daughter, Mrs. David (Debra) Sippel, Peoria; five sons, Dale, Rockford; Donald, Deer Grove; Charles, Ottawa; Loren, Oregon; and Robert, rural Sterling; four sisters, Mrs. Grace Hayes, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Galen (Bertha) Dickenson, Malden; Mrs. Albert (Mary) Humphrey, Kewanee, and Mrs. William (Frieda) Anderson, Princeton; one brother, Virgil Hollaway, Bushnell; 20 grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at Allen Funeral Home, Sterling, Saturday at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Donald D. Pritz, pastor at St. John's Lutheran Church, officiating. Burial will be in Oak Knoll Memorial Park, Sterling. Visitation is today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. A memorial has been established.

Polo Brethren serve supper

POLO— The Quester's Class of the Church of the Brethren served a 6 p.m. supper to the 89 persons who attended the second session of the School of Missions on Sunday, Jan. 11.

The School of Missions is held by the church members every year during the month of January. An evening meal is served by one of the Sunday School classes and at 7 p.m. there are mission classes for all ages followed by a general assembly in the church sanctuary with group dismissal at 8:30 p.m.

Pictures and a commentary of their recent trip to Costa Rica was shown to the adult class on Jan. 11 by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Waite and Mrs. Evelyn Reid. The Waitees were visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Farnum, who are missionaries of that country. Mrs. Farnum is their daughter.

During the general assembly at 7:45 p.m. a film, "A New Family in Town," was shown by Rev. Arthur Hunn.

A short discussion period was held by those present before the dismissal.

172 traffic deaths

The superintendent of the Illinois State Police, Dwight E. Pitman, announced today provisional figures which indicate that during the month of December, 1975, 172 persons died from injuries sustained from traffic accidents on Illinois highways. A total of 2,056 people have been killed since January of 1975. There were 2,001 killed for the same period of 1974, an increase of 55.

Capt. Dave Pearson, district commander for the area including Lee, Ogle, Whiteside, Carroll and Jo Daviess Counties, reports one fatality in 105 accidents involving 61 injuries for December, 1975. During December, 1974, troopers in the five-county area investigated 124 accidents involving 41 injuries and three fatalities.

For the entire year of 1975, District One Troopers investigated 1,194 accidents.

During the month of December, District One personnel issued 837 traffic arrests and 1,355 written warnings.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

To Jennifer Holt, 6, today.

Dixonite faces license charge

Dixon Police charged a Dixon man Thursday evening with driving while his license had been revoked. Charged was Walter W. Stahl, 24, 701 Broadway. He was picked up while driving a truck on the 400 block of Palmyra Avenue.

Stahl was given a notice to appear in circuit court Feb. 4.

Card of Thanks

We want to thank all our customers for the Christmas presents.

Ken & Jeff Slater

Thanks to my friends and relatives for the many flowers, cards, calls and many other acts of kindness and prayers, also thanks to Rev. and Mrs. Zetterberg and to Dr. Tavenner while I was a patient at KSB and Rockford Memorial. Many thanks.

Tax collection breakdown given

The Lee County Board on Aug. 26 passed a resolution the actual cost of collecting taxes in the county be determined and that it be charged to taxing bodies on the basis of the amount of taxes paid each public taxing organization.

This action was taken after a new law was passed permitting counties to bill other political jurisdictions for the cost of collecting taxes which are to be disbursed to them.

The 1970 Illinois Constitution banned the practice of counties charging a set fee for collecting taxes for other public bodies.

Sharon Thompson, county treasurer, earlier this week disclosed the cost of collecting taxes in the county is $63,420.74. Today she released the breakdown of charges by taxing bodies.

The collection cost of taxes retained by the county is $7,040.24 and this amount is absorbed by the county.

The largest amount of taxes collected in the county goes to the Dixon Public School District and the collection charge, according to Thompson, is $19,278.97. The next highest charge goes to Amboy Community Unit School District, $6,305.97, and the third is the City of Dixon, $4,807.58.

The distribution of the collecting charges by townships, cities and villages, school districts, fire protection districts, park districts, sanitary districts and other districts follows:

Steward gets depot

STEWART— Official word has been received from Burlington Northern Railroad that the Steward depot has been given to the town.

At Tuesday night's village board meeting the village transferred all ownership responsibilities and liabilities of the depot to the Steward Project, Inc. It was also reported that the date of moving the depot has been changed to June 30, 1976.

Running dogs are still a common complaint from villagers. It was decided by the board to

Walnut women meet

WALNUT— The United Methodist Women of Walnut met Thursday afternoon in the dining room of the church. Mrs. Marvin Ackeborg conducted the business meeting with roll call being answered by 21 members and one junior, Randy Carr. Routine reports were given and a number of thank-you notes from the shut-ins were read.

Due to a conflict in the Ohio Methodist Church it was decided that Walnut United Methodist Church will have the World Day of Prayer service at the Walnut Church on March 5.

A program on prayer and self-denial was given by Mrs. Cecil Plume, assisted by Mrs. Bruce Carr and Mrs. O. C. Baird. At the close of the program a collection was taken for prayer and self-denial.

A floral arrangement depicting the Bicentennial Year centered the refreshment table. Hostesses were Mrs. Delbert Swanson, Mrs. Virgil Lange, Mrs. George Schrader and Mrs. Wayne Alshouse.

Monthly meeting

NELSON— The Nelson Grade School Mothers Club will hold its monthly card party Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Nelson School. Refreshments will be served.

Only limited success for Walker plan

Illinois Focus

By BARRY HANSON
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Daniel Walker's goal of hiring more women and members of minority groups in state government is being met with painful slowness in some areas, statistics show.

With a highly publicized executive order issued Oct. 9, 1973, Walker established a program in which "affirmative action" would be taken to increase the number of women and minorities among the some 60,000 employees in agencies under his control.

"I will not tolerate employment discrimination in state government," the governor said as he set up an affirmative action office in the Department of Personnel. The office was to monitor employment patterns and give supervisors guidelines for scouting out qualified women and non-white men for state jobs.

Now, more than two years and thousands of computer printout pages later, an examination shows some limited successes.

"Over-all, we can get a lot of satisfaction," said Alice Kirby, assistant state affirmative action director. "But a look at specific agencies shows some have not made the kinds of effort expected."

Taken in total, the figures look good. Of the employees in the departments, agencies, boards and commissions under Walker's control, the proportion of minority group members has increased from 17 per cent in June 1973 to 21 per cent last September, the last month for which detailed figures were available. In the last 15 months, however, the increase has been only 1.5 per cent.

The proportion of women is holding steady at about 55 per cent and the proportion of black, Asian, Spanish and American Indian females has increased from 14.35 per cent in June 1974, the earliest date for which figures were provided by the Affirmative Action Office, to 15.19 per cent last September.

But a detailed examination of the statistics reveals the following:

—The over-all level of non-white males, who generally are the family breadwinners, has increased less than one percentage point in 15 months, to 6.51 per cent.

—Both the percentage levels for women and minorities received a one-time substantial boost on Jan. 1, 1974, when the Cook County Department of Public Aid merged with the state department. Figures show that of the 5,576 employees who became part of IDPA through the merger, nearly 60 per cent were members of minority groups and roughly 70 per cent were women.

—The figures only include employees hired under the personnel code—the civil service system for state employees. Some agencies, such as the Department of Transportation, the Capital Development Board and the Environmental Protection Agency, hire large numbers of professionals who are not covered by the code.

—According to Sept. 30 figures, not a single minority-group member was among the 136 employees under the personnel code in the Department of Mines and Minerals.

—The percentage of women in code positions at the Department of Transportation is 17 per cent. When non-coded employees, primarily engineers, included in the figures, however, the percentage drops to 11.

—Women have made few gains in winning high-paying administrative jobs with the state. In June of 1974, there were four men for every woman in personnel code jobs as officials or managers. More than a year later that proportion is essentially unchanged.

—There is no question that there is a serious problem in reference to the status of both women and minorities in state government," said Rep. Wyvetter Young.

Rep. Young, a black Democrat from East St. Louis, chairs a House subcommittee looking into state employment of women and members of minority groups.

The common pattern is there in the executive branch," Rep. Young said. "Large numbers of women in clerical, low-paying jobs without aggressive upward mobility."

But while Rep. Young is concerned about all women and minorities, she says it is the black male — the head of the black family — who should be the chief subject of affirmative action.

"We have to protect our family structure," she said. "And this whole pattern of hiring large numbers of females and thinking you're doing what you need for minorities isn't what we're talking about at all."

Tom Fuller, who since April has headed the state affirmative action office, acknowledges that the temptation exists to hire non-white females in order to improve the statistics in both categories.

"In my opinion, some managers believe a female is less threatening than a male," Fuller said.

Fuller said it is a tough job to crack traditional employment patterns. "The biggest problem is the entrenched bureaucracy — the middle level managers," he said. "It is not easy to break through this. By tradition you find a large percentage of the managers happen to be white males."

He and Rep. Young also cited the problem of the availability of minorities in the places where jobs are, like Springfield, and getting qualified persons to move to where jobs are available. Rep. Eugene Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, former head of the House Committee on Employment of Women and Minority Groups in State Government, offered guarded comments on the Walker administration's progress in affirmative action.

"I think the extent to which there has been any progress depends on each agency," she said. "As you look at the affirmative action plans, you have the feeling with some agencies that they are just PR documents period. It depends on the commitment that the people in each agency have toward implementation."

"I would say it (the affirmative action program) has been good," she said. "It's a first step, but there's a lot that still needs to happen."

Once and Future Leader

The man who seems the most likely successor to the ailing Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai is himself not a young man. The 71-year-old Vice Premier of Communist China greeted President Ford during the U.S. leader's recent visit. Just 9 years ago, few people would have predicted that this man would emerge as the acting leader of his nation. In December, 1966, he became one of the first targets of the Cultural Revolution. He was denounced by Red Guards as a "renegade" and "revisionist." After his purge, he did not reappear until 1973, when he was unexpectedly named Deputy Prime Minister.

Catholic bells to toll abortion reminder

Church bells throughout the Rockford Diocese will toll for at least five minutes on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 18, at the request of Bishop Arthur J. O'Neill.

"The tolling of the bells will serve as a stark reminder to our people and the entire community that we mourn the million unborn children who met death last year by abortion," the Bishop explained.

Throughout the diocese the Pastoral Plan for Pro-Life Activities will be launched. Special petition prayers have been prepared for use at Mass and the Bishop has sent a letter to the more-than-100 parishes in the diocese.

Several pro-life activities have been organized Sunday, including a commemorative dinner at 1:30 p.m., at the Coach Light Inn near DeKalb, and a pro-life rally at 7:30 p.m., in St. Anskar's Episcopal Church in Rockford.

Hon. Alford R. Penniman Jr., associate justice of the district court, will be the keynote speaker at the Rockford rally. Birthright volunteers will demonstrate services and special sessions have been planned for high school students to better inform them about the pro-life movement.

Workshops at St. Anskar's will include film showing, scheduling and discussion, publicity, monitoring of media, letter writing, neighborhood communication and working with legislators.

St. Anne Sodality meets in bad weather

SUBLETTE — The regular meeting of the St. Anne Sodality was held, Thursday evening in St. Mary's School basement. Due to the sub-zero temperature a small crowd was in attendance. The meeting was preceded by a 7 p.m., Mass in Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church by the Rev. Philip Bajo.

Mrs. James Malach, chairman and Mrs. Frederick Schuller, co-chairman and members of the January band was in charge and served refreshments.

Father Bajo gave a talk and conducted a Question and Answer period.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Robert Theiss, president of the Sodality announced a bus trip to the 1976 Chicago Flower and Garden Show in March at the McCormick Place. This is to have a Bicentennial theme. This was tabled for more discussion at the next meeting. St. Anne members will have first choice on the bus.

Plans are also in the making for a Bicentennial group style show for the Bicentennial celebration to be held in June. Persons are reminded to start searching for clothes with styles of the past 200 years, for this event. This will be a community affair.

A vote was also taken and passed to send a gift of money to Rev. Edw. J. Lehman, former pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church for his 50th Ordination to the Priesthood on Jan. 31, 1976.

Door prize went to Mrs. Josephine Burkardt and other prizes to Mrs. Rueben Dinges, Mrs. Floyd Pry, Mrs. Robert Theiss and Mrs. John Rapp.

The next meeting of St. Anne's will be, Feb. 5 and members of the band are Mrs. Ralph Truckenbrod, chairman, Mrs. Charles Reeser, co-chairman, Mrs. Clara Leffelman, Mrs. Francis Buckley, Mrs. JoAnn Gordon, Mrs. Robert Ayers, Mrs. Albert Borell, Mrs. Leo Bulfer, Mrs. Ida Borell, Mrs. Harold Bonnell Jr., Miss Edna Streit and Mrs. Mike Coffey.

Ex-Cub to address Oregon church

OREGON — Gene Hiser, outfielder for the Chicago Cubs, will be the guest speaker at the annual Father-Son banquet at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Oregon, Jan. 21 at 6:30 p.m.

Hiser, who has played part-time with the Cubs for the past several years, spending some time at the Wichita farm club of the Cubs, is one of several club members who speaks for such events during the winter months.

Hiser is also a member of the Cubs traveling basketball team which will play in Byron, Jan. 20.

Men and boys from the community who are interested in hearing Hiser speak, and getting an opportunity for an autograph and a chance to shake hands with a major league baseball player, are invited to attend the event. Reservations may be made by calling the church office, 732-2367.

There are many Cub fans in the community; there are also many who might enjoy the opportunity of meeting a fine young athlete. They are invited to attend the banquet.

To meet in Oregon

OREGON — The annual January meeting of the congregation of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Oregon, will be held at 11:15 a.m., Jan. 18, following an abbreviated worship service.

Included in the agenda for the meeting is the adopting of a $50,000 budget for 1976 and acceptance of reports from committees, organizations and staff members.

According to the report to be given to the congregation, the membership of St. Paul's congregation is now 538, including 123 child members and 415 confirmed members. The communicant membership for 1975 was 364.

The Rev. Armin G. Weng, pastor of the congregation, will preside for the meeting.

Rochelle women to hear Colorado lecturer

ROCHELLE — Jan. 19 is the date of the Rochelle Area Christian Women's Club for its monthly luncheon meeting at the Vagabond Resort's Concord Room from 12:30 to 2:30. Sam Dalton of Denver, Colo., is the guest speaker and has chosen for his topic "Tell It Like It Is."

Dalton was formerly employed by the Protex Industries in Denver, but is now a full-time speaker, traveling from coast to coast, and will be appearing in area Christian Women Club meetings. A special feature will be macramé by Murphy's. Music for the luncheon will be provided by Mrs. Vernon Pohlhammer of Rochelle.

Faith Lutheran Church, on Flagg Center Road, will again provide nursery facilities for mothers wishing to attend the meeting.

Call to prayer meeting

COMPTON — The Compton United Methodist Women met on Wednesday, Jan. 7, for the call to prayer meeting. This was entitled "And all these things shall be added," and was conducted by Mrs. Donald Car-nahan, with audience participation and the singing of several hymns. The offering taken will be used for the support of victims of oppressive systems and societies and healing ministries and services for the aged.

The new president, Mrs. Gerald Brown, opened the meeting by reading the "Housewife's Prayer." Communications were read from Rev. Eubank of Dixon, stating that the society should expect a visit from the Bloodmobile in the spring. A letter has been received from the Ambassadors. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warren of Ashton stated that they would be glad to give a program for a church family night on June 12.

Valentine boxes for the shut-ins will be packed in February. The Easter Boutique is scheduled for March 19. A motion was made to have the church cleaned this spring with hired help. Anyone wishing to donate funds or help may do so.

The Goodwill Industries sent a thank-you for the recent pickup. Mrs. Amil Bernardin has made a cash donation to be shared with the society and church. Mrs. Brown, in behalf of the society, thanked the retiring president, Mrs. Gordon Menzel, for the three years she served as president.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. August Johnson and Mrs. Gerald Brown. The next meeting will be Family Night, with a scramble supper on Sunday, Feb. 1, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Gladys Robinson of Rockford will show her Bicentennial slides.

GOD IS AN INEXHAUSTIBLE SOURCE OF POWER

We have been constantly hearing about the "energy crisis", which has resulted in the desperate search for new sources of power, both natural and artificial. Whatever the source, the goal is the continuation of our good life and the further achievements of progress in every aspect of it. Human beings also need a continuing supply of power in order to accomplish their own personal goals, whatever they may be. MT. MORRIS POINT—Kay Schrock (34) of Dixon gets this volley back across the net but was called for hitting the net during the District competition Thursday against Mt. Morris. The point gave the visitors a 4-1 lead. Deb Millard defends for Mt. Morris while Karen Leamanczyk looks on. (Telegraph Photo)

Top-rated teams to meet in finals

The two top-seeded girls teams — Byron and Mt. Morris — will meet Saturday at 7 p.m. for the championship of the Dixon District volleyball competition.

Byron advanced into the title game with a 20-11 and 20-15 triumph over Oregon while Mt. Morris slipped by Dixon 20-8 and 20-13 at Lancaster Gymnasium Thursday night.

Patsy Hanes and Rose Yocum collected 10 service points each in the two-game Mt. Morris victory. Hanes had five points while Yocum and Karen Leamanczyk got four each in the first game.

Earlene Hinton and Deb Millard added three each while Sara Reckmeyer added one. Betty Butcofer had three markers for Dixon. Donna Pinegar got two while Kathy Cook, Kay Schrock and Jane Coomes added one apiece.

Two Butcofer points began the game but Mt. Morris notched its first marker as Cheryl Blake spiked in a volley on Yocum's serve. Hanes got three points to make it 4-2 before Pinegar's pair of digits knotted it. One of the points came via a Butcofer spike.

Mt. Morris took the lead for good on Hinton's serve when the visitors collected three points. Millard added two markers including a spike by Yocum to make it 9-4.

Coomes spiked in a point for Schrock to cut the advantage to four points. After Leamanczyk got a point for Mt. Morris, Pinegar spiked in a Dixon marker on Butcofer's serve. Yocum got a point for Mt. Morris and then spiked in a marker for Hanes.

Leamanczyk got three points, Yocum two while Reckmeyer and Hanes added one each to wrap it up. Mt. Morris raced to a 5-0 lead in the second game behind two points by Yocum and three by Hanes.

Coomes got one for Dixon before Reckmeyer made it 8-1 with a trio of markers for Mt. Morris. It soon became 12-3 as Hinton spiked in the 12th point and third marker on a Hanes' serve.

Dixon then rallied to close within two with four points on a Coomes serve and three more on Gridley's serve. Jean Potts tipped in one point while Cook spiked home a pair.

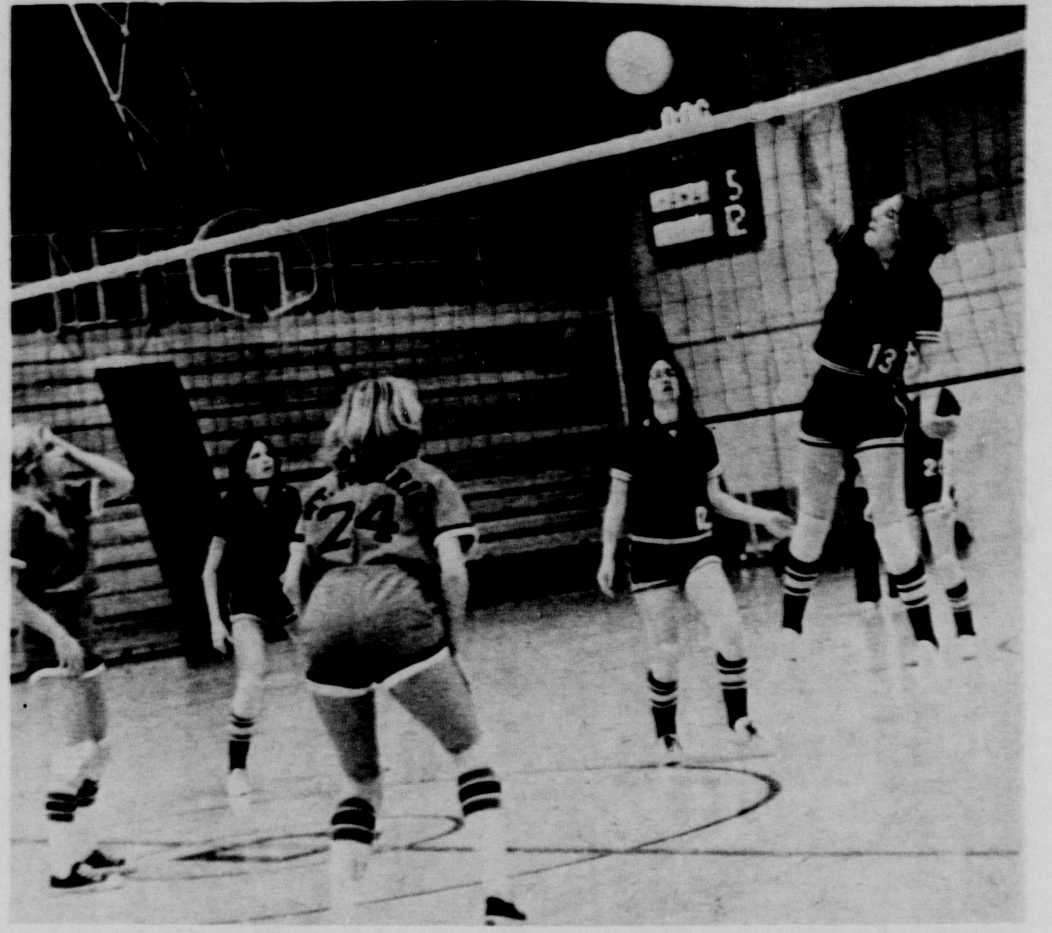

Three points on Hinton's serve including a tip-in and spike by Yocum enabled the visitors to extend their lead to 15-10. Yocum got three service points and Blake two to finish the victory.

Hanes finished with six points. Yocum five while Reckmeyer and Hinton added three each. Blake got two and Millard one. Coomes had five, Cook four, Gridley three and Schrock one for Dixon.

In the opening match, Sheryl Hess collected six points and Kim Cato five as Byron took the first game by nine points. Kathy Boehm and Chris Dietrich added three markers each while Jeri Sugden got two and Penny Pendergrass had one.

Sue Joesten had five points, Rhonda Herriot four while Betsy Bettner and Cathy Bettner got one each for Oregon. Dietrich had 10 points in the second game with Sugden getting three. Cato, Julie Naffsinger and Debbie Tudor added two each while Boehm had one.

Joesten led Oregon with six markers. Jackie Thompson contributed four while Herriot and Cathy Bettner had two each. Betsy Bettner rounded out the scoring with a solitary marker.

KATHY COOK (13) spikes in the sixth point garnered by Dixon in the second game of the Dixon-Mt. Morris District volleyball match at Lancaster Gymnasium Thursday. Deb Millard (15) and Cheryl Blake are the Mt. Morris players while Jean Potts, Mary Gridley (12) and Jane Coomes also watch the action. (Telegraph Photo)

Dixon girls are now 12-2

Jana Ostergrant rolled a 556 series including a 226 game as the Dixon High School girls bowling team won a pair of matches from Hall at the Plum Hollow Lanes Wednesday.

Dixon took the "A" contest 2,346-2,209 and the "B" match 2,013-2,008. Ostergrant paced the "A" team with her 556 series based on games of 153-177-226. Deb McClanahan added a 466 with lines of 139-173-154 while Pam Kersten got 447 on 135-154-158.

Marty Shroyer contributed a 441 with games of 154-138-149. Maria Waytenick got 436 with 169-138-129. Dixon had game totals of 750-780-816 for its series of 2,346. Hall had games of 794, 655 and 760.

Debby Mitchell led the visitors with a 458 on 147-125-186. Kathy Lund added 434 on 147-144-143 while Mary Riva got 419 on 142-117-160. Rosemary Robich contributed 453 on 161-125-186. Ellen Lehning rounded out Hall with a 445 on 177-135-133.

The Dixon team games of 780 and 816 were the highest of the season by the girls while the team series was the best. Ostergrant's 226 and 556 also represent individual highs.

In the "B" competition, Karen Knack and Christ Lebre led Dixon with 444 and 437, respectively. Knack had games of 141-159-144 while Lebre countered with 147-171-119. Terri Peterson bettered 400 by five pins with lines of 155-118-132. Bobbi Taylor got 391 on 131-101-159 while Trina Houck added a 336 on 106-103-127.

Dixon had game totals of 680-652-681 to 642-676-690 for the visitors. Mary Campbell rolled 157-145-201 for a 503 to pace Hall. Julie Marusch got a 397 on 118-158-121 while Kathy Francisco added a 382 on 145-134-103. Luanen Helmig got a 380 on 108-143-129. Lisa Corsolini had a 346 on 114-96-136.

Dixon is now 12-2 for the campaign.

MIKE McDONALD, who was the only champion for Dixon in the Dukes' second-place finish at the Morton Invitational last week, has been named Wrestler of the Week. McDonald's 18-8 triumph in the championship match gave him his title. (Telegraph Photo)

Redmen split

SAUK VALLEY— Pins by Mike Gray at 158 and heavyweight Mike Cole enabled the Sauk Valley Redmen wrestling team to get by Wright 28-16, here, Wednesday and split a pair of matches. In the other competition, Sauk Valley was blanked 58-0 by Blackhawk.

Gray stuck Ken Pittman in 1:19 while Cole needed 6:08 to get the fall against Carl Davis. Other winners for the Redmen include Terry Gray for forfeit at 126, Dave Hooks with a 7-4 decision over Ohm at 134, Mike James via a 6-5 verdict against Nick Ortiz at 150, plus a 10-2 triumph by Ed Minertz over Walker at 177.

Sauk Valley forfeited the 118 and 167 classes. Ron Steiner dropped the only contested match as he lost 10-2 to Joe Daniels. In an exhibition match, Terry Gray pinned Robert Kane in 6:16.

The Redmen were shut out versus Blackhawk, who finished second in the nation last year. Sauk Valley forfeited 118, 142 and 167. Terry Gray lost 11-0 at 126 to Randy Shaw in the only decision.

The remainder of the Redmen were pinned. Hooks was stuck at 4:25 by Joe Terronez, James lasted 6:10 against Garvin Miller, Mike Gray 5:33 versus Dave VanderLinden, Minertz 4:15 against Rick Benz, Steiner 6:53 in a match with Todd Thorp while Cole was stuck in 4:38 by Rudy Reynolds.

Lotz dominates game for Highland Sauk Valley loses 89-75

By JIM FOX
Telegraph Sports Writer

SAUK VALLEY— Coach Frank Palumbo wishes the initials of his college basketball team were SVA instead of SVC. Everyone knows the latter three letters stand for Sauk Valley College but Palumbo would like to see the moniker changed to Sauk Valley Aggressive.

The hosting Redmen failed to display aggressive action in the first half of action, and coupled with shoddy passing and cold shooting in the initial 20 minutes Sauk dropped the Arrowhead Conference tilt to Highland 89-75, here, Thursday evening despite a strong second-half comeback.

"We have to get our consistency back," commented Palumbo after the defeat that marks the Redmen's second consecutive and fifth of the season in 16 games. "We have to assert ourselves. We have to play aggressive."

Palumbo termed the first half as a "terrible" one for his team, as the Redmen fell behind early and went into the locker room down by 20 points, 47-27. First-half shooting stats show Sauk connecting on only 13 field goals and amassing a 35 per cent shooting mark.

Steve Lotz had a fine game, pumping in 35 points and dominating the action underneath for the 5-0 conference Cougars. Lotz dropped in 17 first-half markers.

The missed easy shots plague Sauk throughout the game, but were especially evident in the first half. Not a whole lot went the way for the Redmen in the opening 20 minutes.

Tim Granzow, Steve Hook and Mark Marinangeli all missed the little lay-ups that are usually guaranteed from the trio. Granzow, playing with a bad ankle that hindered his performance, consistently missed the tip-ins and offensive rebounds that allowed the Cougars to jump into the lead.

Lotz poured in lots of points in one stretch early in the opening minutes. The sophomore center from Lena-Winslow dropped in the first bucket for Highland and then connected on four consecutive baskets in a three-minute span that pushed the visitors into a 16-8 margin at 13:09. Lotz put in a 20-footer and then stayed within his boundary on a pair of 10-footers in the lane and an offensive rebound.

Lotz accounted for seven more markers in the half and was joined up in the scoring spree by freshmen forwards Matt Stewart and Dave Goeke, who each pumped in eight points. The shooting duo consistently hit from way out and presented a problem for the Redmen with the super-hot outside shot going through and Lotz putting in the others on offensive rebounds.

Mike Friedlein and Hook kept the Redmen in contention in the disastrous first half by netting seven and six markers, respectively. Hook's six points came in succession as the sophomore guard hit on a pair of lay-ups and a 20-footer in a two-minute stretch that brought the hosts within seven at 28-21 at 6:56.

But the final six minutes of the half hurt the Redmen even more as the Cougars pushed 19 points through while Sauk managed only six. The Redmen were shooting for their lives in the closing minutes, forcing many shots and then not coming up with the offensive rebound. Sauk picked up a mere five offensive rebounds in the first half.

"We just played terrible the first half," stated Palumbo. "We did not hit as well as we could have. In our previous game with Highland (at Freeport in the Holiday Tournament in which Sauk won 104-98) we scored 48 points in the first half—tonight we could only score 27."

The final half was better for Sauk as the hosts hit with better consistency and improved on the overall game performance. Sauk pushed 48 points through but could not contain Lotz as the big center added 18 more to total 35 on the night and help his team in rolling to the victory.

Friedlein and Hook led Redmen scorers with 15 apiece and both played a fine second half. Granzow, sixth in the state in scoring with a 21-point average, picked up only nine but played with a bad ankle "that is the size of a softball. Tim did one heckuva job," stated Palumbo.

The one Redman who came off the bench and performed exceptionally well was Dixonite Dave Moody. The big freshman forward appeared briefly in the first half and collected one bucket, but came back in the last eight minutes and dropped in an additional three. Moody's scores were all of the short-jump types, and they were over a tough defending center Lotz.

"Dave did a nice job out there. He has been really looking good lately. He has been more than admirable in practices."

Although the Redmen fought back strongly the Cougars were able to hold onto the lead and maintain a solid margin throughout the last half. Sauk trimmed it to 12 at 85-72 late in the contest but it was all over by that time.

"We played pretty well the second half. I don't feel overly bad as long as we played decently in the last half. We are showing signs of breaking out of the doldrums. We just have to play more aggressively."

"Lotz played a fine game. Andrews (freshman guard Doug) was too quick for our guards. He showed that a good ball handler can do exactly what he wants to do." Andrews pumped in 14 markers for second best behind the dominant Lotz. Stewart and Goeke netted 12 each.

Randy Paisley, also a Dixonite, picked up seven points as did tough-playing sub Doug Mitchell. Marinangeli added six to the effort.

The conference loss drops Sauk to the .500 level at 2-2 while Highland continues to fly high at 5-0. The conference match ended Tuesday versus Blackhawk East has been rescheduled for Jan. 30. The next contest for the Redmen is Saturday night against JVCC at Oglesby.

Gems will visit Ashton on Sunday

ASHTON— The world-famous Arkansas Gems will meet the Ashton All Stars at the Ashton High School gymnasium Sunday at 6 p.m.

The Gems are sponsored by the Ashton Lions Club. The All Stars will be composed of Ashton dignitaries. If you want to see basketball played like it has never been played before, you will not want to miss this laugh-provoking exhibition. The attraction will keep all in laughter from the opening whistle to the final buzzer.

In addition, the Gems will offer shooting and ball handling that will be second to none. Included in their act are 30-foot jump shots, behind-the-back passes, fancy dribbling and comedy.

Tickets for the Gems are on sale from any Ashton Lions member. Tickets will also be available at the door.

A team in Seattle

PHOENIX (AP) — Major league baseball is unenthusiastically edging toward expansion with no sign yet of thank-you notes from Seattle.

"If we didn't have the Seattle problem, we wouldn't be expanding," American League President Lee MacPhail admitted Thursday after a two-day meeting of baseball owners ended here.

A $32 million lawsuit by the city of Seattle against the American League is, euphemistically, that problem. The city sued after an earlier expansion team, the Seattle Pilots, was whisked away in 1970 after a one-year stay.

"There will be a team in Seattle in 1977," MacPhail said. But does the city want an expansion franchise?

There has been no indication the city will drop its suit, now in court, and no prospective purchaser of a 1977 expansion franchise has come forth.

"I've got a stadium to rent," said Ted Bowsfield, former major league pitcher who is now director of Seattle's new domed stadium.

"If they (the league) can find ownership willing to accept an expansion team, fine. But I don't know of anyone interested."

"If they think anyone will pay something like $10 million, they might as well forget it," the American League announced Wednesday its intention to expand to Seattle next year. Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn wants the MIAMI (AP) — Because they will confuse the Pittsburgh Steelers with a variety of offensive and defensive formations, the Dallas Cowboys will win Sunday's Super Bowl game. It won't be by much, but one point more is, after all, all the Cowboys need.

and simple and Franco Harris shredded it for a Super Bowl record 158 yards rushing. But Dallas uses the flex, a little wrinkle that may not be as simple to solve.

Man for man, the Steelers have an edge on the Cowboys.

Man for man, the Steelers have an edge on the Cowboys. But football is a team game. Man for man, the Vikings were better than the Cowboys and so were the Rams. But Dallas beat both those teams.

Those victories gave the Cowboys momentum, an element that could play an important role Sunday. Dallas isn't even supposed to be here. The Cowboys were ready for a rebuilding year with 11 rookies on the squad. Nothing was expected of them and so, if they lose Sunday, they can shrug it off and say they went much further than anyone could have expected.

But the Steelers are the defending champions. The pressure is on them, just as it was on Minnesota last year when the Vikings were trying to win the title for the third time. And you know what happened to them.

If the Steelers needed only to worry about playing a normal, typical team with routine offenses and defenses, they would win. But Dallas' unusual approaches will confuse the Steelers and by the time Pittsburgh figures it all out, the Cowboys will be in the dressing room, sipping championship champagne.

MIAMI (AP) — "The best offense is a good defense."
How trite. And how true.

The Pittsburgh Steelers have a defense which would seem capable of stopping just about anything up to and including a runaway locomotive. It's virtually identical to the defense that stopped the Minnesota Vikings in Super Bowl IX.

And it's the defense that's going to slam the door on Dallas this Sunday and cause the Cowboys' shotgun to misfire. And backfire.

It will probably be a low-scoring game (Dallas has a good defense, too), as most of these games have been. The average score for the winning team through the first nine Super Bowls is 22 points. The average for the loser just eight.

If anybody's going to break open the game, though, it's going to be Pittsburgh, perhaps after the Cowboys, unable to move consistently with their more conventional offense, go for the gimmickry.

Now let's get down to specifics. Start with a line of Dwight White, Ernie Holmes, Joe Greene and L.C. Greenwood. Nobody's going to run on them very much — not Robert Newhouse, not Doug Dennison, not former teammate Preston Pearson, not even Roger Staubach.

Oh, an occasional draw play or sweep might work. But if the Cowboys get past that foursome, they've got to deal with Jack Lambert, Jack Ham and Andy Russell, the premier line-backing trio in the NFL.

So much for the short gain. Now it's time to try for the bigger chunks of yardage via the pass route, perhaps with the shotgun as the trigger.

The maelstrom of Greene & Co. crashing into the Dallas backfield is only the first problem Staubach will have to overcome. Lambert and friends are clogging up the medium distances — or joining the line in a blitz — is the next. And in the distance, if Staubach has much time to survey anything but his own escape routes, he'll see J.T. Thomas, Mel Blount, Mike Wagner and Glen Edwards, one of the league's more proficient bands of thieves.

Can the Cowboys' defense hold Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw in check? Maybe. But not for 60 minutes. Can it blanket Lynn Swann and the rest of the Steelers' receivers? Most of the time. Can it handle Franco Harris? Not likely.

What it comes down to is a battle of attrition. When it's all over, Pittsburgh's Steel Curtain will still be standing.

EVERYBODY'S doing it! Selling idle, but no-longer needed items with classified ads.

A high price might keep you from buying a new home.

But a low price
shouldn't.

A Wausau Home costs thousands of dollars less than comparable homes. Because of the way we buy materials and the efficiency of our controlled building system.

For example, every Wausau Home is built with the finest grade kiln-dried lumber. 100% copper plumbing. Red ceramic tile walls and floors in the bath. We buy the very best and we buy in quantity. Which lowers the price, not the quality.

And we build under the very best conditions, indoors, out of the weather. Stop by for a close look at a Wausau Home. But don't let our low prices scare you. That shouldn't keep you from buying the new home you want.

The business side of the news

Anniversary for bank in Sublette

SUBLETTE — A dinner was held recently at the Coachmen Inn in Sublette for the stockholders of the Farmers State Bank of Sublette.

The dinner was held in recognition of the 55th anniversary of the establishment of the bank. It also marked 75 years of banking in Sublette. On Dec. 31, 1920, the Farmers State Bank of Sublette began operation after purchasing the assets of the Sublette Exchange Bank which had been operated in the village since 1900 by the Malach family.

During the evening, Don J. Dinges, president of the bank, presented a plaque to George Henrich Sr., who has been a stockholder of the bank for the entire 55 years. Henrich is the only original stockholder of the bank. A floral centerpiece was also presented to Mrs. Henrich.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the bank was held in the bank offices on Jan. 8.

Dinges, noted that the bank's total assets had grown by over $600,080 during the year, reaching a new peak of over $7,300,000. Net profit for the year ranked as the third highest in the history of the bank.

All directors were re-elected during the meeting. They are: Charles B. Hatch, Byron Thier, L. J. Henkel, Don J. Dinges, Larry Henkel, Raymond Dinges and Denis D. Erbes.

It was noted that Director

Charles B. Hatch was elected for the 46th consecutive time as a director of the bank. He was the first elected in 1930, just ten years after the bank was organized, and has served on the board continuously since that time.

Following adjournment of the stockholders meeting, the board held an organizational meeting. Officers were re-elected as follows: Don J. Dinges, president; L. J. Henkel, vice president; Larry Henkel, cashier and Louis Myers, assistant cashier. The same staff of employees was rehired, including Helen Clark, Delores Henkel, Karen Montavon and Cheryl Kuebel.

Open house at Federal Land Bank

The Federal Land Bank Association of Dixon will hold an open house in its new central office at 815 N. Galena on Saturday and Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m.

This is the central office of the Land Bank Association serving northwestern Illinois farmers and rural home owners. The association opened its office in Dixon on Dec. 1, 1973, following the merger of the Freeport, Morrison and Amboy-Oregon Federal Land Bank Associations and at that time had 2061 loans outstanding for $53.9 million. The association has shown steady growth since

Walnut bank annual meeting

WALNUT — The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Citizens First State Bank was held at the bank Jan. 8. Dick C. Ross presided over the meeting as chairman with George E. Norden as secretary.

Roll call revealed that 1,130 shares of stock were represented in person and 2,681 shares by proxy, making a total of 3,811 out of a possible 4,000.

The chairman then opened the floor for the nomination of directors for the coming year. An election committee, consisting of Glenn R. Gonigam, Philip Magnuson, and Mrs. Delbert Swanson, had been appointed to take charge and the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: Roy A. Atherton, Wallace W. Bass, George E. Gonigam, George E. Norden, Dick C. Ross, George A. Short, E. A. Splain, and Glen E. Trone.

New officers were announced after the organization meeting. For 1976, the roster of officers will be as follows: Chairman of the board, George A. Short; president, Dick C. Ross; vice president, Glen E. Trone; Cashier, George E. Norden; assistant cashier, Mrs. LeRoy Rollo.

that time due primarily to the increased value of farm land and the number of loans is now 2325 for $91 million, according to Harold J. Jepson, manager.

According to Jepson, the price of farm land in this area increased at rates ranging from 13 to 20 per cent, depending on the area, from Jan. 1, 1975 to Sept. 1, 1975, in northwestern Illinois and is still increasing.

In addition to the Dixon office, branch offices of the association are located in Freeport, Morrison and Oregon. The directors of the association are Willard Simpson, president, Franklin Grove; Ron Rus, vice president, Albany; Lester Wichman, Baileyville; Rudolph Peterson, Pecatonica; Carl Schnitzler, Elizabeth; Ray Queckboerner, Chadwick; and Lyle Hill, Rockford. The manager of the association is Harold L. Jepson from Dixon, who also serves Winnebago County.

Associate managers are Morris W. Kessinger serving Lee and Ogle Counties; Norman K. Horack serving Whiteside, Carroll and Rock Island Counties, and Ken Holmes serving Stephenson and Jo Daviess Counties.

The assistant managers are Betty G. Parrent in the Dixon office, Delores Edwards in Oregon, Clarice Fouke in Freeport, and Pat Gowan in the Morrison office.

Kay Lund named to airline post

KAY LUND

Kay Lund, a native of Dixon, has been named director of consumer affairs for United Airlines. She is based at the airline's headquarters near Chicago.

In this capacity she will be responsible for United's wide range of consumer programs and activities both inside and outside the company.

Prior to her appointment Lund served as assistant to the senior vice president-external affairs. She joined United in January, 1972, as regional manager of public relations for the Mid-Atlantic Region based in Washington, D.C., and held that position until September, 1974.

Before coming to United, Lund worked 8½ years on the staff of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin as aviation editor and covered a wide range of assignments from the state legislature to tourism. She earned a private pilot's license in Hawaii.

She also served two years in Washington, D.C.—first on the White House press staff of the late President Eisenhower and later as press secretary to Illinois Congressman John B. Anderson.

She is a graduate of the State University of Iowa, where she obtained a B.A. degree in journalism.
